Re: HPC 2013.003 D – 95-101 Wheatland Street, Somerville

Dear Mr. Berg,

On Tuesday, January 15, 2013, the Commission voted unanimously (7-0) to determine the circa 1887 and the circa 1950 industrial buildings at 95-101 Wheatland Avenue are 'significant' because the buildings are (Section 2.17) "at least 50 years old, and is or has been determined by the Commission to be a significant building or structure after a finding that the building or structure is either:

- i. "Importantly associated with one or more historic persons or events, or with the broad architectural, cultural, political, economic or social history of the City or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, or
- ii. "Historically or architecturally significant (in terms of period, style, method of building construction, or association with a reputed architect or builder) either by itself or in the context of a group of buildings or structures, and therefore it is in the public interest to be preserved or rehabilitated rather than to be demolished."

Specifically, the significance of the structure reflects the industrial history of the City, especially with regard to furniture-making, not only individually, but particularly in the context of the group of buildings on the site. Despite some alterations, the buildings still retain their essential industrial character.

The Commission will be holding a public hearing on February 19, 2013 to review the SHPC's initial determination of "significance" and whether the building should be "preferably preserved" as per section 7-28 b "that it is in the public interest to be preserved or rehabilitated rather than to be demolished." While the ordinance requires the Applicant to submit photos and building descriptions, these materials have been prepared by the HPC Staff to aid in the initial determination of 'significance.' A copy of these materials was given to you at the meeting. Should you have additional information that you believe could effect the determination, the Commission requests their submission for Staff review within two week of the public hearing which would be by Tuesday, February 5, 2013. Public testimony will be taken at the hearing, followed by discussion and a vote by the Commission.

It should also be noted as per sec 4.7 that "anyone who voluntarily demolishes a significant building or structure without complying fully with the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than $300" per violation levied daily, and that "no building permit shall be issued for a new building or structure on any premises where a significant building or structure is voluntarily demolished in violation of this ordinance for a period of two (2) years after the date of demolition."

According to the Demolition Review Ordinance, demolition (sec. 2.9) means "the act of pulling down, destroying, removing, or razing a building or structure or commencing the work of total or substantial destruction with the intent of completing the same. For the purposes of this ordinance, the term "demolition" shall not include routine maintenance, interior renovations, or other types of renovations for which Commission approval is generally not required." And that voluntarily (sec. 2.19) means "any act(s) done by design or intention, which is proposed, intended, or not accidental. An Act of God is not considered voluntary, but rather is regarded as an act done without the will or choice of the applicant (or owner, if different from applicant). For the purposes of this chapter, the destruction of a significant building or structure for failure to properly secure it shall be considered voluntary."
